Prior Publication

Authors will be permitted to submit their abstract to the ISTH 2026 Congress and another journal/meeting as long as the data in the abstract has not been published/presented to a scientific audience at the time of submission. Press releases may be allowed only if general information and no primary detailed data is included.

Abstracts submitted to regional or national meetings (no larger than 2,000 attendees) can be submitted to the ISTH 2026 Congress for consideration for inclusion in the program.

If you have questions regarding prior publication please contact us at abstracts@isth.org.

Confidentiality Policy

Abstracts submitted to the ISTH 2026 Congress are considered confidential by ISTH, the authors, research sponsors, until publicly released on the ISTH 2026 Itinerary Planner on Friday, June 26, 2026 at 09:00 Eastern Standard Time (U.S. EST). Abstracts will also be published in the online supplement to the Research and Practice in Thrombosis and Haemostasis journal in November 2026 after the ISTH 2026 Congress.

For abstracts submitted as a Late-Breakthrough abstract, they are considered confidential until they are publicly released at the start of the Late-Breakthrough Oral Communication Session(s). Prior to the abstracts being made publicly available, the presenting author, co-authors, research sponsors and journalists may not:

- Make information contained in the abstract that is submitted, be made public or provided to others who can make it public (i.e. press)
- Publish, present, or provide it to others who can make it public
- Use the information for trading purposes or provide it to others who can use it for trading purposes
- ISTH reserves the right to provide its press releases a few days before public release to a selected list of journalists who have previously agreed in writing to respect the ISTH embargo policy

If details or relevant information from the abstract or additional study data are disclosed in advance of the abstract being publicly released in connection with the ISTH 2026 Congress, the abstract will no longer be eligible for inclusion in the ISTH 2026 program and/or is subject to removal and the presentation may be subject to withdrawal.

*Confidentiality Policy Exceptions

If a publicly traded company has submitted an abstract and legal counsel has advised that some data from the abstract must be disclosed in order to comply with national or international regulatory bodies, the ISTH may grant exceptions to the embargo rules. If approved, this will allow the company to release certain data from the abstract on a case-by-case basis without voiding the eligibility for presentation at the annual congress.

To request an exception, please email Louise_StGermain@isth.org with detailed information about the contents of the release, and the data that would be required, and a letter signed by legal counsel showing how and why this disclosure of information is necessary to comply with regulatory bodies.

If you have any questions about abstract embargos or applying for exceptions, please email abstracts@isth.org.

Media Policy

- Any media outlet or press representative wishing to attend an ISTH Event and/or to obtain official press releases from the ISTH Press Office must commit to respecting any and all embargoes set by the ISTH. Press representatives who receive embargoed material from the ISTH understand that it is for their individual use and will not distribute the embargoed information to anyone else prior to the embargo release. Embargoed materials include - but are not limited to - original journal articles, abstracts from scientific meetings, written news releases, audio news releases, video news releases, slides and any other materials associated with the scientific information being presented or published.
- Embargoed materials as well as results and information related to sessions at any meeting or event organized by the ISTH are strictly confidential and cannot be disclosed in any manner or for any purpose prior to the lifting of the embargo by the ISTH.
- The information contained in the abstracts is embargoed until the abstracts are available online. Coverage of information that goes beyond that which is contained in the four corners of the abstract (e.g., additional analysis, commentary, or updated information from those individuals and companies involved in the study) is embargoed according to the following criteria: For oral presentations: the embargo time is the start time of the session in which the presentation is being made. For poster presentations: the embargo lifts when the poster session containing the poster opens for viewing in the morning (i.e., when the poster hall opens that day).
- The ISTH Press tab of the website should be consulted for updated embargo information. For any questions related to embargoes, contact the ISTH for clarification prior to releasing the information.

If you have questions regarding the media policy please contact Louise St. Germain at louise_stgermain@isth.org.
